

The Daily Courant.

Thursday, December 4. 1707.

From the Amst. Gaz. dated Nov. 18.

Milan, November 2.

WE have Advice from Turin, that the Regiment of Horse of Vitconti, that of Dragoons of Savoy, and some other Horse, are appointed to Quarter in the Villages of the Country adjacent to Fenestrelles and Exiles, to streighten the Enemy in those 2 Posts, and be ready to act in the Spring on that Side by entering Dauphine. His Royal Highness has considerably reinforced the Garrison of Suza, and given Order for making a Line from thence to Mount Cenis, which Line is to be guarded by a certain Number of Troops, to secure that Passage against the Enemy.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 18.

Turin, Nov. 2. The Duke of Savoy has renew'd for 3 Years longer his Alliance with the other Potentates confederated in the War against France. The Rivers of this Country being swell'd by great Rains, have overflow'd, and incommoded the German Troops in their March towards the Winter Quarters assign'd them in the Parmesan, the Mantuan, and Parts adjacent. M. Bertola, his Royal Highness's chief Ingenier, return'd hither the 28th of last Month, having mark'd out a Line from the great Cross on Mount Cenis to Suza; Men are hard at Work on that Line, and when 'tis finish'd some of his Royal Highness's Troops will be posted in it. The Garrison of Suza is augmented to 20 Battallions.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 25.

Turin, Nov. 5. His Royal Highness has suppress'd the Office of Intendant-General of War, which was executed by Count Lambert: And the 3d Instant caus'd Proclamation to be made, that those who would undertake to furnish 12000 Mules for the Service of the Army the next Campaign, should apply themselves to the Council of the Finances. Men are raising in the open Country, to recruit our Troops. The 3d of this Month, a Regiment of Foot was embark'd on the Po, to reinforce the Garrison of Valenza.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Decem. 6.

Turin, Nov. 12. Our Duke applies himself with great Assiduity to Affairs of the War, and 'tis reported will shortly make a Promotion of General Officers. We have receiv'd Advice that the Emperour has given his Royal Highness the Investiture of the Montserrat: His Royal Highness has given Orders for punishing Thieves and Highway-men in that Country, with the same Severity as in Piemont; and a Gunner, who had formerly done good Services, has been hang'd at Casal, for robbing a Man of 3 half Crowns. The French threaten to enter Piemont the ensuing Campaign, and lay it waste with Fire and Sword; but we look upon that as a Rodomontade: However, new Outworks to Suza are making, the better to defend that Entrance into the Country against the Enemy.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Nov. 12.

Brussels, Nov. 4. The Advices from Francfort import, that in the general Conference held there Count Wratislaw represented on the Part of the Emperour, that it was necessary to make new Efforts for continuing the War: That his Imperial Majesty had spar'd nothing to contribute to it, having tax'd his hereditary Countries beyond their Ability, and that others ought to imitate his Example. The Deputies of the Circles of Swabia, Franconia, and of the Upper Rhine, set forth the deplorable Condition to which their Country has been reduc'd since the beginning of the War, especially after the Marshal de Villars pass'd the Rhine; and therefore said, that far from furnishing more Troops or greater Sums, they could not even pay their Contingent. The Duke of Wirtemberg and the Princess of Baden added, That Germany did not want Troops, but that they were employ'd in the Netherlands, in Poland, in Italy, and other Parts where the Empire had no Interest, while it was abandon'd as a Prey to the Enemy. M. Geldermalsen Envoy of the States General reply'd, that the Troops they spoke of being mostly in the Pay of England and Holland, they might be employ'd where those who paid them judg'd proper; and that Germany had none to blame but it self for the Calamities it lies under. In conclusion, the 28th of October the Result of the Conference was, that Endeavours should be us'd to establish a Military Chest, to augment the Army with 25000 Men, and to settle such Measures that the Army might be drawn together by the beginning of May.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 26.

Ratisbon, Nov. 17. The 12th of this Month the following Letter from the Elector of Hanover to the Diet, was read in a full Assembly.

WE would not omit to inform you by this Letter, that we have regulated with his Imperial Majesty's Consent the Winter Quarters for the Army of the Empire, the Command of which we have given to Baron Thungen Field-Marshal general and General of the Artillery of the Empire; that we have likewise caus'd necessary Lines to be made for covering the Troops in their Winter Quarters; and that the present Circumstances of Affairs in our own Dominions not permitting us to be longer absent; we have resolv'd to begin our Journey thither (God willing) the 8th Instant. We could have wish'd, that the Disposition of the Affairs of the Army of the Empire put under our Command, had been such, that this Campaign might have been ended with greater Advantage to our Country, and the War have been carry'd into the Enemy's Territories. And we hope, that all the Electors, Princes, and States of the Empire, being inspir'd with Zeal for the Honour, Welfare, and Prosperity of the Country in general, and of every Member in particular, will not be wanting to put the said Army early into a Condition to act Offensively against the Enemy who pretend to reinforce theirs, and to drive them within their due Limits.

We desire you to make urgent Instances on this Subject to your Principals, to recommend it to them on our Part, and especially to represent to them the Necessity there is that the Military Chest should be well supply'd; and that what has been granted by the Empire to that End, may be effectually paid in the Manner prescrib'd or some other, without Abatement or Delay.

For the rest, we refer to what we have formerly written, and to what we have caus'd our Envoy with the laudable Diet to represent by Word of Mouth. And remain with constant Good-will to serve you.

From the Head-Quarters at Erlingen, Nov. 6. 1707.

Sign'd, George Lewis, Elector.

And lower J. Hattorf.

The Envoy of the Elector of Mentz, as Director of the Diet, earnestly exhorted all the other Deputies to send Copies of this Letter to their Principals, and to press them on the Part of the Diet to perform with all Diligence what his Electoral Highness desires of them for the Good of the common Cause, the rather because otherwise 'tis to be apprehended prehended the other Confederates will slack their Hands, and consequently that the War will never be brought to a happy Issue, but that things will fall into a worse Condition than they are in now. This he said ought to be laid the more to Heart, because the Queen of Great Britain, and the States General of the united Netherlands had plainly intimated to the Empire, that they were to expect no further Succours from them, and therefore should take Care to defend themselves. When Cardinal Lamberg, the Emperour's principal Commissioner, arrives, he will communicate to the Diet a Decree of his Imperial Majesty, admonishing the Members of the Empire to furnish in due Time their respective Contingents of Troops, Ammunition, and Money: He will likewise bring with him the Muster-Rolls, which will shew who have furnish'd their Quotas compleat, and who have been deficient. In the mean time the Minister of Hanover is not idle.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 29.

Francfort, Nov. 23. The Army of the Empire is intirely separated: The Troops that compos'd it are march'd to the Winter Quarters assign'd them; And those left in the Lines near Edingen, have block'd up the Redoubt lately built by the French on the Side of the Rhine over-against Fort-Louis, to hinder the Garrison of that Place from making Excursions.
